

Class X — India and the Contemporary World – II

What this book actually is: the single highest-yield NCERT in the History series for Mains GS1. Class 9 gave you the ideas; this one gives you how those ideas built nations, and how the world got wired together. Three of its chapters — Nationalism in India, The Making of a Global World and The Age of Industrialisation — are questioned, in substance, almost every year.

Why this book outranks Class 9

Class 9 covered "political philosophies like communism, capitalism, socialism". Class 10 covers the rest of the GS1 World History line, and the Indian core as well:

UPSC SYLLABUS PHRASE → CHAPTER

"industrial revolution" → Ch.4 The Age of Industrialisation
"redrawing of national boundaries" → Ch.1 Rise of Nationalism in Europe
"colonization, DECOLONIZATION" → SUPPLEMENT – Indo-China
"effect on the society" → Ch.3 The Making of a Global World
SUPPLEMENT – Work, Life and Leisure

AND, from the INDIAN core of GS1
"The Freedom Struggle – its various stages and important contributors" → Ch.2 Nationalism in India
"modern Indian history from about the middle of the eighteenth century" → Ch.4, Ch.5

★★★★★ Ch.2 (Nationalism in India) is the most examinable single chapter in the entire NCERT History series. It is Non-Cooperation, Civil Disobedience, the Salt March, and — crucially — how different social groups understood swaraj differently. That last idea is what separates a good Mains answer on the freedom struggle from a chronology.

The chapters

#	Chapter	Prelims	Mains	Status
1	The Rise of Nationalism in Europe	★★★	★★★★★	✓
2	Nationalism in India	★★★★★	★★★★★	✓
3	The Making of a Global World	★★★★	★★★★★	✓
4	The Age of Industrialisation	★★★★	★★★★★	✓
5	Print Culture and the Modern World	★★★★	★★★★	✓
6	SUPPLEMENT — Indo-China · Cities · Novels	★★★★	★★★★★	✓ all 3 parts

✓ All six files are written, each from the textbook PDFs directly. The supplement is the longest file in the book because it carries three restored chapters, each with its own Syllabus Classification, Learning Outcomes, UPSC Focus, Recap and Test Yourself blocks.

⚠️ What NCERT removed — and why we are putting it back

The current book prints 5 chapters. The 2018-19 edition had 8:

Removed chapter	UPSC value	Our decision
The Nationalist Movement in Indo-China	★★★★ "Decolonization" is named in the GS1 syllabus . This is the only place in the entire NCERT series you meet Vietnam, French colonialism in Asia, and an anti-colonial war that defeated two superpowers	✅ Restoring — supplement Part A
Work, Life and Leisure: Cities in the Contemporary World	★★★ London and Bombay — urbanisation, slums, migration, city planning. Feeds GS1 society and the urbanisation topic	✅ Restoring — supplement Part B
Novels, Society and History	★★ Caste, gender and nationalism read through fiction — and ★★★★★ the highest density of author-work-year facts in the book , which is exactly how Prelims asks about literature	✅ Restored in full — supplement Part C

This is the third time we have made this call — Class 7 (Rulers and Buildings, Towns, Traders and Craftspersons), Class 9 (Peasants and Farmers, Clothing), and now Class 10. NCERT's rationalisation is a school-workload decision, not a UPSC-relevance decision, and on this book it removed the one chapter that covers a syllabus keyword outright.

📄 Source: recovered from the Wayback Machine's copy of the 2018-19 whole-book zip, stored at ../Textbook_PDF/Removed_Chapters_Old_Edition/. Unlike the Class 9 supplement, these are original publisher PDFs with clean text — no OCR errors. ⚠️ See that README for the renumbering trap: after Indo-China was dropped the remaining chapters were renumbered, so `jess302` means different chapters depending on the year.

🔗 How this book connects to Class 9

Read the two books as one argument. Almost every Class 10 chapter picks up a Class 9 thread:

Class 9 gave you	Class 10 develops it into
The French Revolution — the nation belongs to the people	Ch.1 — how that idea remade the map of Europe, 1789–1871
Socialism and 1917	Ch.2 — why the Congress after 1917 sounds different; and the supplement's Ho Chi Minh
Nazism and the redrawal of boundaries	Ch.1 and Ch.3 — nationalism's dark turn, and the interwar economy
Forest Society / Pastoralists — colonial extraction	Ch.3 and Ch.4 — the global market those forests and pastures were feeding
Peasants and Farmers (supplement) — enclosures, opium, the world market	Ch.3 — The Making of a Global World is the same story told whole
Clothing (supplement) — Swadeshi, khadi, Gandhi's dress	Ch.2 — the movement that clothing was a weapon in

🔗 ★★★★★ The single strongest cross-link: Class 9's supplement ends with opium, the triangular trade and Indian de-industrialisation; Class 10 Ch.4 (Age of Industrialisation) begins with why Indian weavers collapsed. Read them back to back and you have a complete, quotable account of colonial economic drain — one that most candidates assemble badly from coaching notes.

The things to know cold from this book

1. Frédéric Sorrieu's 1848 prints and what the "utopian vision" was.
 2. The Congress of Vienna, 1815 — who met, what they restored, what they redrew.
 3. Giuseppe Mazzini, Young Italy, Young Europe — and why Metternich called him "the most dangerous enemy of our social order."
 4. Unification of Germany (Bismarck) and of Italy (Cavour, Garibaldi) — the two contrasting routes.
 5. Britain as the exception — a nation-state formed by "no abrupt upheaval" but a long process.
 6. ★★★★★ Rowlatt Act → Jallianwala Bagh → Non-Cooperation → Chauri Chaura → Civil Disobedience → Salt March → Round Table → Poona Pact.
 7. ★★★★★ How each group read swaraj differently — Awadh peasants, Gudern hill people, Assam plantation workers, industrialists, the merchant class, women, Dalits, Muslims.
 8. Simon Commission, Lahore 1929 (Purna Swaraj), 26 January 1930.
 9. The three flows of the pre-modern world: trade, migration, capital — and the silk routes.
 10. The Corn Laws, the Bretton Woods twins, the Great Depression's effect on India.
 11. Proto-industrialisation, the guilds, the "jobber", and why Indian weavers collapsed.
 12. Gutenberg, the Protestant Reformation, Vernacular Press Act 1878, and the reading revolution.
 13. (supplement) Ho Chi Minh, the Ho Chi Minh trail, the scholars' revolt, the Tonkin Free School, and why the US lost.
 14. (supplement) London's tenements and Bombay's chawls, Haussmann's Paris, the Garden City, the 1863 Underground, the Improvement Trust's 64,000-vs-14,000, and why cities were feared.
 15. (supplement) ★★ The novel: Indulekha, Pariksha-Guru, Godan, Anandamath, Saraswativijayam, Sultana's Dream — and why the same form served both the coloniser and the nationalist.

Study order

1. ★ Ch.2 first. It is the most examinable chapter in the series, and you already have its background from Class 8 Ch.8.
 2. Ch.4, then Ch.3 — industrialisation explains the global world, not the other way round.
 3. Ch.1 — pairs with Class 9 Ch.1 and Ch.3.
 4. Ch.5, then the supplement, leading with Indo-China (Part A).
 5. ★ Read supplement Part C (Novels) immediately after Ch.5 — NCERT wrote it as Ch.5's sequel and says so in its first line. Part B (Cities) pairs with Ch.4, whose mill workers are the people who filled Girangaon.
